Indian documentary announced winner of Cannes Golden Eye

Director Sharmukh San contemplates the award-ceremony scene.

Sharmukh San, director of the documentary "Breathes," winner of the Golden Eye award at the 2022 Cannes Film Festival, celebrates this achievement. The film, which explores the challenges faced by the residents of a Delhi slum, has received critical acclaim for its powerful narrative and emotional depth.

"Breathes" is among two films from India that have made it to the Cannes Film Festival, joining the jury's list as part of the festival's special screening program. The documentary, produced in collaboration with the Indian government, has been described as a powerful depiction of the lives of the residents of a Delhi slum.

Sharmukh San, a well-known director in India, expressed his elation at the win, stating, "This is a dream come true. I am so grateful to everyone who has supported us on this journey. This recognition is a testament to the power of storytelling and the universality of human experiences. We believe that every life matters, and we hope that our film will reach a wider audience and spark meaningful conversations about the challenges faced by communities around the world."
